2018 shooting at KDH

'Rehabilitative,' not 'punitive' sentence in suicide attempt

Courier staff report

Kirk S. Avalos is expected to serve six months with the Indiana Department of Corrections after shooting himself inside the emergency room at King's Daughters' Hospital on June 21, 2018.

Jefferson County Superior Court Judge Michael Hensley sentenced Avalos Monday morning after considering the state's and Avalos' sentencing arguments, which took place in April.

"Obviously, a decision in your case is a difficult one for the court," Hensley said to Avalos.

Avalos, 58, was sentenced to two years, with 16 months suspended to probation for a Level 5 felony charge of criminal recklessness. Hensley explained he expects Avalos actually to serve about six months due to the good behavior credits he thinks Avalos will earn. Avalos also will receive credit for two days served upon his arrest, before he made bond in July 2018.

"We're not here to be punitive. We're here to be rehabilitative," said Hensley.

Hensley cited mitigating factors, including Avalos' honorable military discharge and lack of a criminal or delinquent history and the high likelihood that he would respond more positively to probation and treatment.

One aggravating factor the state pointed out in April was also mentioned again Monday. Avalos only shot the gun once — at himself— but there were six bullets in the .38 caliber Smith & Wesson when he entered the hospital. The revolver had been fully loaded.

Hensley explained that he couldn't "in good conscious" suspend the whole sentence, because if he gave Avalos a "slap on the wrist" he would not be deterring others from potentially copying Avalos or causing similar incidents

Smoke detector warns resident to flee

Courier staff report

A smoke detector's alert sent a man and his dog from their apartment at Presidential Estates Sunday afternoon before fire did significant damage to their unit.

The City of Madison Fire Department reponded to the 100 block of Taft Drive where a fire was reported in the living room of one residential unit.

First responders on the scene reported heavy smoke and fire in the front and rear parts of the apartment. An oxygen cylinder in the unit ruptured before fire crews entered, a news release from the fire department said.

The man who lived in the apartment was taken by EMS to King's Daughters' Hospital for evaluation.

"Working smoke detectors save lives," MFD Chief Bill DeVries emphasized in a news release.

No fire was found in the adjoining apartment units.

Madison fire and police department are investigating the cause of the fire.

MFD evaluates and installs smoke detectors in homes free. To learn more or request a smoke detector, call 812-265-8350. Leave your name, contact number and address and someone with the fire department will call to set up a date and time for installation. (Courier staff photos by David Campbell and

Ivy Tech Madison awards 565 degrees and certificates

Courier staff report

More than 500 degrees and certificates were awarded Saturday to graduates of the Madison campus of Ivy Tech Community College.

The ceremony took place at the Horner Center on Hanover College's campus. Of the 565 degrees and certificates earned by students this year, 176 of them were by high school students in the college's "Start as a Sophomore" program. These students will graduate from high school with 30 credits hours guaranteed to transfer to any public four-year school in Indiana.

Ivy Tech Assistant Vice President of Student Success, Dr. Cory Clasemann-Ryan, and a student, Colyn Clarke, spoke to the graduates and their supporters.

Nancy Sobeck was honored with an honorary degree to recognize her dedication to Ivy Tech Community College and to Madison. Sobeck is a former Ivy Tech Southeast regional corporate trainer. She is now the senior manager of training and development for Madison Precision Products Inc.

Jill Kelly-Koren received the President's Award and Douglas Eckstein received the Adjunct Faculty Award. These recognitions are given to thank professionals for their instruction in Ivy Tech's classrooms.

Charges filed in wounding of Indianapolis police officer

Indiana

INDIANAPOLIS — Court records say a police officer was wounded last weekend by a suspected shoplifter who fired the officer's gun during a violent struggle. Marion County prosecutors have charged William Allen, 41, with attempted murder and other charges for the May 5 shooting of Officer Eric Rosenbaum. Authorities say Rosenbaum confronted Allen near a Lowe's store on the city's east side after the shoplifting report. Allen is charged with attacking Rosenbaum and grabbing the officer's gun after gouging his eyes and injuring his shoulder. Rosenbaum was shot in the thigh and hospitalized in good condition. Allen fled but was soon arrested by other officers. Defense attorney Cody Cogswell told The Indianapolis Star that Allen disputes prosecutors' description of what happened.

2 dead after shooting near Motor Speedway

INDIANAPOLIS — Authorities say two people are dead after a shooting at a strip club near the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. Indianapolis police say officers were called to the Club Venus strip club about 1 a.m. Saturday, where the two people were found dead at the scene. Information wasn't immediately released about those killed or what led up to the shooting at the club along 16th Street, less than a mile east of the speedway. Police said homicide detectives were investigating and didn't report any immediate arrests or suspects. The shooting happened the day of the IndyCar Grand Prix road race at the speedway, leading up to the Indianapolis 500 on May 26.

Ex-offenders hired amid tight job market

INDIANAPOLIS — An organization is connecting businesses with ex-offenders to try to address a tight labor market and help people who are struggling to find work after leaving jail or prison. Public Advocates in Community Re-Entry, usually known as PACE, is a non-profit that helps people return to society after spending time behind bars. Develop Indy, the economic development branch of Indy Chamber, has linked 112 businesses to PACE since late 2017, the Indianapolis Business Journal reported . Develop Indy officials noted that they view the ex-offender community as an untapped resource in a tight work market with a 4 percent unemployment rate. Rhiannon Edwards, executive director of PACE, said the not-for-profit has more partner employers than ever, which allows them to give time and "shoestring budget" to screening clients and trying to pair them with available jobs. In 2018, PACE helped about 4,400 clients on a $1 million budget. PACE has placed about 120 ex-offenders in available jobs.

Rokita critics speak against board spot

INDIANAPOLIS — A group that speaks for train passengers wants the Senate to reject the nomination of a former congressman for Amtrak's board of directors. The Rail Passengers Association said Todd Rokita voted in 2015 and 2017 to eliminate public funding of Amtrak, although lawmakers continued the support. He was a Republican member of the House Transportation Committee during his eight years in Congress. Rokita sought the Republican nomination for U.S. Senate last year, finishing third in a race won by Mike Braun. Rokita now is general counsel for an Indianapolis-based consulting company, Apex Benefits.

Franklin College tops $10M goal for facility

FRANKLIN — Franklin College says it has exceeded its $10 million fundraising goal to support construction and renovation of a new science facility on its campus. The school said Monday the goal was topped for the Campaign for the Sciences, which is helping to pay for the Franklin College Science Center that fully opened in January. The school's President Thomas J. Minar said in a statement that Franklin College is "extremely grateful to the many donors, including trustees, alumni, friends and organizations." Minar noted that Dr. Margot Lacy Eccles made a $2.5 million financial promise and matching challenge before her death in 2012 that helped get the campaign going. The school said the Science Center will be home to the Lacy Labs, which will honor her memory and contributions.

St. Theodore Guerin's works to be digitized

TERRE HAUTE — Indiana State University said it has received $15,000 to help provide online access to St. Mother Theodore Guerin's letters and journals. Indiana State said the project will digitize about 1,500 pages of original documents, translations and transcriptions. The school also will provide access to the digital representations through Indiana Memory and the Digital Public Library of America. Indiana State is assisting the Sisters of Providence of Saint Mary-of-the-Woods Archives. The letters and journals provide insight into the culture and history of 19th century America, especially in Indiana. In 1840, Mother Guerin and five companions traveled from France to serve the Catholic community in Indiana. The grant comes from the Institute of Museum and Library Services.

Housing eyed for old Logansport power plant

LOGANSPORT— An old power plant along the Eel River could be turned into housing in Logansport. The power plant was shut down in 2016 because of strict federal environmental rules. Logansport Mayor Dave Kitchell called the area "prime real estate for housing," near Riverside Park and downtown. The Pharos-Tribune reported that Logansport Municipal Utilities is close to being able to sell the property. Officials say various styles of housing could be an option. A housing study funded last year by the city council determined that Logansport has a need for at least 250 new housing units and up to as many as 400 in the coming years.

STATE BRIEFS

Family sues pediatrician accused of abuse

LEBANON — The family of a 12-year-old boy who alleges he was sexually abused by a pediatrician has filed a civil lawsuit. The Indianapolis Star reported the child's parents, identified in court records as Jane Doe and John Doe, are seeking damages from Dr. Jonathon Cavins, 41, of Jamestown. Cavins' attorney in the civil case isn't commenting on the lawsuit, because of pending litigation. Cavins is awaiting trial and now faces accusations from five accusers. Cavins is charged with child molestation involving a boy, 12, and sexual misconduct with a minor involving two other teenage boys. The 12-year-old came forward in February, accusing Cavins of fondling him. In April, a judge approved a motion from prosecutors to add two additional counts of child seduction.

Officials probe inmate death in Elkhart County

ELKHART— Authorities say a 51-year-old man who was under medical care at a jail has died after being found unresponsive in his cell. The Elkhart County sheriff's office said Brian Banister was being treated for an illness while held on a preliminary charge of operating a vehicle while intoxicated and resisting law enforcement. Medical personnel responded and an ambulance was called Saturday to the Elkhart County jail, but he was dead at the scene. Details about the specific illness Banister had weren't immediately released by authorities. An investigation is ongoing into the cause of his death.

Indiana Dunes camp to accept reservations

PORTER — Indiana Dunes National Park said visitors can reserve campsites, beginning Wednesday. In past years, all 66 sites at Dunewood campground were available on a first-come, first-served, basis. Under the new system, 34 sites can be reserved up to six months in advance. The remaining 32 sites will remain first-come, first-served. The price is $25 per night. The campground is open April through October. An online reservation system at www.recreation.gov goes live at 9 a.m. CDT Wednesday. For more information, contact the park's information desk at (219) 395-1882 or go to its website at www.nps.gov/indu. The park covers 15,000 acres along the southern shore of Lake Michigan in northwestern Indiana.

Kentucky State Police welcomes recruits

FRANKFORT— The Kentucky State Police Training Academy is welcoming 72 new recruits. A news release said the recruits are an encouraging sight to the law enforcement agency that has experienced several retirements recently. The training at the academy in Frankfort lasts 25 weeks and includes more than 1,000 hours of classroom and field study. Areas of study include constitutional law, use of force, weapons training, defensive tactics and high-speed vehicle pursuit. Captain Kyle Nall is commander of the academy. He said the program is both mentally and physically challenging. Historically, at least 35 percent of the cadets do not finish. The class is tentatively scheduled to graduate Oct. 25.

Canadian manufacturer to create new jobs

FRANKFORT — Officials say a Canadian manufacturer plans to create up to 265 full-time jobs with a facility planned in eastern Kentucky. Gov. Matt Bevin said Dajcor Aluminum plans to invest nearly $19.6 million to locate its first U.S. operation near Hazard. The company manufactures extruded and fabricated aluminum products. Officials say the company plans to locate in the former American Woodmark facility in Perry County's Coalfields Industrial Park. Retrofitting and setup will begin immediately and operations are scheduled to begin by the end of 2019. To encourage the investment, the Kentucky Economic Development Finance Authority has preliminarily approved the company for up to $4 million in tax incentives through the Kentucky Business Investment program.

Man indicted 2nd time in cold case probes

FRANKFORT — The attorney general said a Louisville man has been indicted for a second time on charges stemming from alleged sexual assaults that occurred years ago in McCracken County. Attorney General Andy Beshear said Friday that Jason Todd Langston was indicted by a McCracken County grand jury on four felony charges including rape, sodomy and kidnapping. Beshear said it's the ninth overall indictment linked to rape evidence kits that were backlogged but now have been tested. The AG's office initially indicted Langston in 2018 after a cold case investigation linked him to an alleged 2005 sexual assault. The latest indictment stems from an alleged 2000 sexual assault. Public defender Jason Pfeil, who is representing Langston on charges in the initial indictment, said Friday he couldn't comment immediately on the new charges.

Arrest in machete attack on boy, 9

COVINGTON — A man is accused of chasing three children from a Covington park and then stabbing a 9-year-old boy who fell behind. The Courier Journal reported Esteban Portugues, 35, was arrested Friday and charged with second-degree assault. The child's family said the boy was playing basketball with two other children Friday night. Covington police say Portugues, armed with a machete, and two other men armed with knives then entered the park. Police say the children tried to flee, but the "9-year-old was not able to keep up with the older juveniles." The child was stabbed in the back of his right shoulder, and police described the wound as not life-threatening. Spokesman Brian Valenti said the attack may have started over the children playing basketball, but that hasn't been substantiated.

COURTNEY FOR MADISON'S MAYOR

Thank You

Tammy and I are grateful for the tremendous support we received during the primary campaign. We could not have been successful without a great campaign team and literally dozens of volunteers and supporters who worked tirelessly for months to bring a strategy of bold initiatives and change to our community. We believe that the guiding pillars of our campaign relating to community safety, economic opportunity, and quality of life initiatives are not just words on paper, but action items we intend to continue to define and refine. Not only am I grateful for becoming the Republican nominee for Madison's Mayor, I pledge to represent the Republican party and the overall broader community well in the November election. I was constantly inspired by the many quiet heroes in our community working daily to address our social issues, our business community which invests in Madison, our school teachers and administrators working for our children, our first responders who keep us all safe, our awesome healthcare providers, our countless volunteers who serve on a multitude of public service committees, our elected leaders and the taxpayers who all desire to make Madison the best place it can be to live, raise a family, work, or visit. Madison can be better and it will be. I look forward to your support as we pivot our campaign for the Fall election. In the meantime, feel free to reach out to me. Your opinion is important to me.

Church to wipe out $1.5M in medical debt for local families

By ABBEY DOYLE
Evansville Courier & Press

EVANSVILLE — With the help of national non-profit RIP Medical Debt, Evansville's City Church is paying off $1.5 million in medical debt for Evansville families, pastor Jeff Kinkade said.

The church won't pick or know whose debt is paid off, but those families will receive a note from the church that says, "We may never meet, but as an act of love in the name of Jesus Christ, your debt has been forgiven."

Kinkade explained that RIP is able to buy back the debt for pennies on the dollar and selects residents living at or near poverty level incomes. City Church will purchase $1.5 million of medical debt for $15,000.

"Our vision has always been to demonstrate the love of Christ to the city of Evansville, not just talk about it," Kinkade said. "We're not a mega-church with enormous resources so we are always looking for ways that we can make the biggest impact with the resources we do have. Christ's sacrifice paid our moral debt, so sacrificing money to pay someone else's financial debt seemed quite fitting to us."

He said he heard about the program through Twitter and after researching it the church decided it would be a good way to make an impact on the community.

Kinkade said anyone who has medical debt, especially crushing medical debt, knows the kind of anxiety and pressure it can create and how it can impact every aspect of someone's life.

"It can feel like a noose around your neck," he said. "Anything we can do to help with that, especially for those who are already at or near the poverty-level, anything we can do to help free up their income."

City Church launched in July 2013 with a commitment to serving the city of Evansville with a vision of bringing spiritual, social and cultural renewal to the city and beyond through a movement of people who are being transformed by the gospel of Jesus Christ, according to a release from the church.

W.D. Richards Elementary students bring a global initiative to Columbus

By SHELBY MULLIS
(Columbus) The Republic

Combine hundreds of little hands with a global issue, and the potential to make a difference is great. That's the intention W.D. Richards Elementary School student council members had when they reduced the use of straws at lunch.

As a part of a Green Week celebration in late April, Richards Elementary students asked themselves what they could do to save the planet. As a call to action, the student council decided to educate their peers of the impact that plastic straws have on the environment. With this, they also decided to make straws optional for students at lunch.

"Straws are something that we can take away because that's one of the main plastic things that we use in the cafeteria," 12-year-old Ellie Combs said. "They take a really long time to break down in a dump and it's really not good for our environment. It's affecting the ocean, so taking away straws was just a small step to help our environment."

The initiative began April 29. When students go to lunch, they have to request a straw if they want one. Students who need to use a straw every day are identified to cafeteria staff so a straw is automatically provided to them.

Nicholas Hockersmith, a Richards sixth-grade student, said it takes thousands of years for one plastic straw to decompose. By taking away hundreds of straws at lunch every day, he said it makes landfills less polluted.

Combs said her classmates are happy that Richards is involved in helping the environment.

"It makes students happy to know this small step we're taking helps our environment in a good way," she said. "It kind of gives me pride because of how much plastic the U.S. alone is using and even our school makes an impact on that. Being able to help keep our environment clean, it's pretty powerful and important. It's just kind of cool to be a leader in this."

Fourth-grade student Hannah Growe said she hopes students will continue to take action in their own homes and at restaurants. She'd also like to see the initiative spread to other schools in the Bartholomew Consolidated School Corp.

"There are other things we could do, but straws were definitely a good start," Growe said.

No matter how small the effort may seem, Combs said reducing the use of straws at Richards will have a big impact in the long run. She said by not throwing away plastic that eventually ends up in the ocean, which provides 70 percent of the Earth's oxygen, the school is making a difference.

The students also asked that community members say no to straws when they're at a restaurant.

"Straws really are not that important," Combs said. "You can drink stuff without straws. Just doing this makes students aware of how much plastic they're using. The easiest thing is to just say no to straws."

Richards principal Darin Sprong said he is proud of the students for their small act, something he says has the power to change the world.

"I think the positive thing is it was student-led and the students realized that at any age you can make a difference for the environment," Sprong said.

Kentucky board sends E-Poll systems across state

Courier staff report

With the help of county clerks and election day poll workers, the Kentucky State Board of Elections is implementing Electronic Poll Books in a limited county roll out during the statewide primary election May 21.

This will be the fourth election in which the Commonwealth has used Electronic Poll Books in a phased rollout. During the May 21 primary election, Electronic Poll Books will be used in about 1,800 precincts in 107 counties around Kentucky.

Electronic Poll Books help election officers review or maintain voter registration information for an election, which has shown to decrease voter check in times from an average of over three minutes to under 45 seconds. The use of these books will also lead to thousands of dollars of savings to the tax payer as the State Board of Elections moves to implement Electronic Poll Books across the Commonwealth in the coming election cycles.

Trimble County will be using these Electronic Poll Books in every precinct on May 21. To use the Electronic Poll Books, voters must bring in a valid driver's license or other form of identification that will be used to quickly check them in to vote.

"It would be very helpful and make the voter check in quicker if voters would bring their driver's license for election officers to scan," said Trimble County Clerk Tina Browning. "Kentucky does not require you to present your driver's license, but if you could bring it, we can process voters more quickly."

All voters must produce identification or be known by a precienct officer prior to voting. Acceptable forms of identification include personal acquaintance of a precinct officer, driver's license, Social Security card, county issued identification card approved in writing by the State Board of Elections, U.S. government-issued identification card, Kentucky state government-issued identification card with picture, credit card or another form of identification containing both picture and signature.

For more information about the Electronic Poll Books, call the State Board of Elections at (502) 573-7100.

'Is it any wonder that Indiana teachers are leaving?'

By ROCKY KILLION

Last week one of my administrators attended an education job fair to look for outstanding teacher candidates. Throughout the entire day, only four potential candidates visited with my administrator.

Most troubling was the sight of many school district administrators from other states. One of those administrators told my administrator that his school district has found that persuading Indiana teachers to move to his state is very easy. His state pays more, offers better benefits and has fewer state-mandated restrictions on the work of teachers. Is it any wonder that Indiana teachers are leaving the profession or this state in droves?

If you don't believe me, just speak to the many teachers I have spoken to who have decided to leave the profession due to stagnant wages, more state mandates and the perceived disrespect emanating from Indianapolis.

If we want to keep our best teachers from leaving Indiana, and if we want to lure the best candidates into the teaching profession, parents and community supporters are going to have step up to support their teachers and public school systems. Also, if legislators are smart, they should be deeply concerned about the grassroots support of teachers that is happening across the county. I have hope that this is going to happen in Indiana.

Indiana legislators should take a close look at what the governor of Rhode Island, the Honorable Gina Raimondo, is doing in her state. As reported in the May 6 edition of the Bloomburg Businessweek magazine, she says, "It's a no brainer to invest in education."

Rhode Island, like Indiana, was seeing a brain drain — talented individuals leaving the state after obtaining a college degree. To reverse this, Raimondo created a budget that "relieved graduates from any Rhode Island-based college or university of their student loans — as long as they agreed to live and work in the state for four years ..." Also in her budget, she tripled the number of pre-K classes and guaranteed that every child had access to full-day kindergarten. In just four years, she has turned around her state's education system by investing in it and by supporting her state's public school children and teachers. This has earned her another four-year term.

If we are to keep our teachers from leaving Indiana or quitting the profession, it is now time for the legislature to fully invest in Indiana's education system. Indiana should provide teachers and staff with the compensation they deserve, expand early childhood and kindergarten opportunities that all children can access, and create financial incentives to keep talented college graduates from leaving the state. I have hope that this is going to happen one day in Indiana.

Let There Be Light: We can't wait any longer

By GAYLE R. ROBBINS
Vincennes Sun-Commercial

One afternoon in sophomore English class, I was reading aloud a selection from a Hemingway short story ("Big Two-Hearted River"), which I'd chosen as an example of writing I particularly liked.

I had just gotten to that part where the protagonist, Nick Adams, sits down beside a burned tree stump and watches a grasshopper climb onto his woolen sock, when there was a sudden, loud crash right next to me: a section of the ceiling tile had fallen on the neighboring desk, which thankfully was empty, scattering debris on me and my book.

Such was the condition of the high school from which I would eventually graduate. The aged building was literally falling in around us.

At the time the school board consisted of three township trustees and their appointees, and if they were united on any subject it was that the school property-tax rate was never to increase, for any reason, ever, no matter what.

I was lucky, in that I came from a home where reading was encouraged, and to have had teachers, particularly Mrs. Holt in the fifth grade, who made it possible for me to move beyond what was supposedly my "level" and get books from both the high school library and our local Carnegie library.

My card number at the Carnegie library was 1912, which I remembered because it was the year Woodrow

GAYLE R. ROBBINS

Wilson was first elected president — Wilson, who chose as his vice president a Hoosier, Thomas Riley Marshall (he of the "really good five-cent cigar"), because Thomas Taggart, the boss of Indiana Democrats, made his support of Wilson contingent upon it at the party convention.

I knew all that because of Mrs. Holt.

So I could maneuver my way around a school building that was falling apart, achieve at a pace beyond a system that couldn't provide me with all the best educational accoutrements.

Other classmates weren't so lucky; despite having done well in high school, at college they suddenly found themselves struggling, and many eventually dropped out.

I have been writing about the lamentable state of public-school funding in Indiana for 30-plus years now, and it's no better today than when I started in the newspaper business.

Which is really extraordinary, when you think about it.

For there is no better investment of tax dollars than public education given the resulting benefits. But it's hard to convince political figures of that. There's bipartisan stubbornness.

Politicians in Indianapolis fall back on the bromide of how much of the state budget is targeted to "education," while local politicians argue the tax dollars in their charge weren't collected for schools but for other things — like parking lots.

Yet, no matter how much of a tax break we give to corporations or how much money gets spent on vanity projects such as the Pantheon, in the end any measure of how attractive the state or the local community is to outsiders will come down to what kind of schools there are.

And good schools aren't just for attracting new residents; they're primarily for serving students and families who already live here and pay those taxes. They deserve consideration.

The reality is, there is no shortage of tax dollars for schools. Ample tax dollars are being collected, at the statehouse and the courthouse, to improve investment in public education.

What is lacking is the willingness of elected officials to funnel those needed dollars into schools.

It is clear that state lawmakers can't be counted on for more help, even though they want the public schools to become training centers for businesses.

By default, properly funding public education is a local issue. Local officials have to decide what's more important, their own vanities or the vitality realized from better-funded schools.

Waiting around another 30 years on the state to do something more just isn't an option.

COMMENTARY:

Ferlinghetti's sharp thoughts still relevant, needed

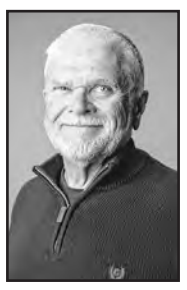
By BUD HERRON

Lawrence Ferlinghetti celebrated his 100th birthday at the end of March.

Well, to be exact, other people celebrated the March 24 event during a party at City Lights Bookstore in San Francisco — the iconic gathering place for poets, intellectuals and "beatnik wannabes" he co-founded in 1953. Ferlinghetti decided not to attend. Nearly blind now, he told a reporter for National Public Radio he was concerned about what he might say and decided to skip it.

I can understand Ferlinghetti's hesitation. I am a mere 74, but have moments when my filters fail, leaving anyone within earshot sorting through more of my pronouncements than they care to hear. Still, I never thought Ferlinghetti would get to that point.

At 39, he published a little book entitled "A Coney Island of the Mind" — a collection of what became known as "beat poems." The book sold more than a million copies.



BUD HERRON

Like many in my generation, I discovered that book when I was in college — not in the classroom but in the fertile educational fields of late-night dormitory socio-political "bull sessions." I was not what anyone would call a fan of poetry. In fact, I felt most poetry was drivel created by would-be writers trying to hide shallow thoughts inside flowery, deep-sounding verbal camouflage.

Ferlinghetti's poetry was different. His poems hit me in the face. His verbal pictures stirred me to thoughts beyond which team would win the homecoming football game. He wrote in the language of the streets. The images he created spoke of an America not depicted in my sanitized public school history books, nor in the mainstream social mythology of the day.

I know, I know. I was a rebellious teenager who had turned against the vanilla conformity of the 1950s and was looking for someone to offer rainbow sherbet. The leap from rhymes of the Hallmark Card poets of my parents' generation to the naked verse coming out of San Francisco was like moving the radio dial from Guy Lombardo to the Rolling Stones.

Ferlinghetti was rooted on the political left, while I had grown up on the moderate right, somewhere between President Harry Truman and the Rev. Billy Graham. Yet, his poems were in no way anti-American or unpatriotic. A U.S. Naval officer during World War II, he had been a part of the D-Day invasion at Normandy. He also served in Japan and walked through the debris of Nagasaki shortly after the United States dropped the second atomic bomb.

When he criticized America, the criticism came from his belief that we can do better in living up to our ideals only if we own up to our misdeeds. He has been a "myth exploder" who would rather see George Washington as a good man who made mistakes than a demigod who never told a lie. Wartime experiences led him to pacifism rather than military parades, but his belief in the goodness of America's highest values has never wavered.

In celebration of Ferlinghetti's centennial birthday, I recently re-read the poems that so impressed me more than 50 years ago. They inspired me again to think. Some of the images and references are now a bit muted by time, but the thoughts behind them are as sharp as ever.

The poems speak in unvarnished ways to the hypocrisies always embedded in politics, religion and social interaction. No matter which tribe or tribes each of us belongs to in this time of national division and animosity, honest examination of our hypocrisies must take place if we are ever to rediscover common purpose as a nation.

I am sorry Lawrence Ferlinghetti did not attend his birthday party and leave us with one more sharply honed thought. His ability to "comfort the afflicted and afflict the comfortable" is needed as much today as it was in his heyday.

Barricades on Vaughn Drive

Barricades went up this weekend after a hole in Vaughn Drive near Firemen's Park got bigger and pavement collapsed. The road surface had been laid last year after a sewer line was installed, so the paving contractor will check if he did something wrong and if so, repair it, city utility manager Brian Jackson said Monday. It's possible the problem is an aged stormwater drainage pipe because crews installing the sewer line found many old, rusted, deteriorated pipes, Jackson said. Crews replaced and repaired as much as they could, but the city could not afford to replace them all, he said. If the problem is not the contractor's, the city will make the repairs, he said. Another problem area was also reported, but Jackson did not yet have details. (Courier staff photo by Peggy Vlerebome)

Madison man arrested on charge of drug dealing

Courier staff report

Police arrested a Madison man last week after an investigation that began in December 2018 and included controlled purchases of methamphetamine and a weapon.

Marvin W. Samuels, 42, faces charges of dealing methamphetamine, a Level 3 felony; dealing methamphetamine, a Level 4 felony; possession of methamphetamine, a Level 5 felony; and possession of methamphetamine, a Level 6 felony.

The investigation began after Madison Police Department Senior Patrolman Aaron Watson received information that Samuels is "a source of methamphetamine in Jefferson County," said a news release from the department. Detectives Ricky Harris and Kyle Cutshaw worked with Watson to conduct controlled purchases of the illegal substance from Samuels. During one of the controlled purchases, a gun also was purchased from Samuels. Officers were able to purchase three grams of methamphetamine from Samuels and a .22 caliber rifle on March 10, said the probable cause affidavit.

Officers served the arrest warrant from the Jefferson County Circuit Court, which set a bond of $50,000 cash-only. Samuels is in custody at the Jefferson County Jail.

Anonymous tips regarding narcotics or narcotics distribution can be called in at 812-265-2121.

North Vernon man killed in Jennings County crash

Courier staff report

A single vehicle crash late Saturday afternoon on State Road 7 near Private Road 625 West claimed the life of a North Vernon man and injured a female passenger.

A white 1988 Ford truck driven by Matthew L. Lonsberry, 51, North Vernon, was southbound on State Road 7 near Private Road 625 West when the vehicle left the west side of the road before overturning and striking a utility pole, Indiana State Police said in a preliminary report.

The vehicle came to rest on its top, trapping both Lonsberry and a passenger, Mary Lonsberry, 52, also of North Vernon, inside.

Matthew Lonsberry died from his injuries at the scene, and Mary Lonsberry was taken to Columbus Regional Hospital for treatment of serious injuries.

State Road 7 was closed about one hour for crash investigation and cleanup.

The investigation is ongoing.

IN-156 work continues

The road closure just north of Detmer Road on State Road 156 will be open by 2 p.m. today.

The next closure will occur tomorrow morning, May 15, starting at 7 a.m. The new closure will start just Northwest of Gridley Road and extend West of Henderson Road.

Residents off Henderson Road and East of Henderson Road will have through access from the westbound direction on State Route 156, said the Switzerland County Emergency Management Agency on Facebook. Residents living Northwest of Henderson Road will have access to their properties via the eastbound travel on State Route 156.

State Route 156 will be cut open a few hundred feet West of Henderson Road where Forty Wink Creek terminates into the Ohio River. Estimated time for the new closure is about 30 days depending on weather conditions.

• Shooting at KDH

Avalos, who lives in Corpus Christi, Texas, testified during the sentencing hearings, sometimes being overwhelmed by emotion and becoming tearful.

Avalos said he had been "experiencing a great deal of anxiety and remorse and guilt" because he had not been with his father to care for him before his death.

He said he went to his father's grave the weekend before the June 21 shooting at KDH.

Although Avalos said he was "foggy" about his days in Madison preceding the shooting, he said he "went to the deli department at Kroger and bought flowers to put on my father's grave" and noted that it had been Father's Day weekend.

He said his intent was to shoot himself at his father's grave. But, he did not.

As he struggled to explain his state of mind, Avalos said, "I wanted to live, yet I wanted to die."

He said he went to the hospital on June 21 to get help. Instead he sat in the car in the hospital parking area "preparing my suicide note."

Avalos said he "wanted to do it in front of people who cared for other people." He also said he wanted to be where someone could help him, but it was not his intent to shoot anyone else.

After 15 to 20 minutes, he said he walked into the emergency room of the hospital about 11:45 a.m. without a weapon. He stayed, he said, about 10 to 15 minutes, then went back to his car for his gun.

He said he went back into the hospital with his gun and talked with a woman at the front desk, asking for help and waving the gun at himself.

It "was my cry out for help," Avalos said.

He said he shot himself when the woman went to get help.

"I want to apologize to the City of Madison and to anyone I frightened or scared," he said as he noted how it was KDH personnel who stabilized, then treated him and drove him to the University of Louisville Hospital trauma center.

Margie Combs, senior manager of risk management and safety at KDH who is in charge of the hospital's security, also testified in April, sharing the details of how patient care was disrupted because of Avalos' actions and how patients, employees and families were fearful for their safety and that of their loved ones.

Combs told the court how families were unable to contact their loved ones, employees of KDH, for several hours during and after the event because of the chaos it caused. She gave one anecdote of an employee who hid in a closet for several hours to finally come out, distraught that no one had come to find her after the incident was over.

Combs also shared that many employees have threatened to quit because they still are dealing with the trauma and fear from that day nearly a year ago.

The hospital has also had to make significant changes to the infrastructure of its facilities because of Avalos' actions. Before, they had an open, inviting environment in as many areas as possible, but now they are closing things off and putting in protective barriers, Combs said.

These infrastructure changes are also quite costly, Combs said. The expenses came at a time when the hospital had not prepared for them in the budget and this was also causing a strain and extra stress on employees. She estimated the costs spent outside the budget so far at about $250,000.

Tim Armstrong, now a special deputy with the Jefferson County Sheriff's Office, was a detective on the day of the shooting. He told the court in April that he guessed at least 13 officers from several local forces and the state police responded to the hospital that day, preventing them from responding to other emergency situations.

Armstrong said that, luckily, there were no other serious emergency calls during the time every available officer was posted at or searching inside KDH for other victims or shooters.

Avalos will have to pay court fees of $185, an initial probation fee of $100 and a $25 per month fee throughout his probation. No restitution was requested.

'We're fighting to save our home'

Frankton couple joins effort to stop 850-acre solar farm

By KEN De La BASTIDE
(Anderson) Herald Bulletin

FRANKTON – Before Curt and Becky Harrison were married, they bought a house in northern Madison County.

Forty-four years and three grown children later, they still live in their dream home.

Today, the Harrisons find their idyllic home life disrupted by a proposed 850-acre solar farm that would butt up against their bucolic property. A portion of the Invenergy Lone Oak Solar project would loom directly north of their home.

The Harrisons have joined a large group of area residents opposed to the project.

The Madison County Board of Zoning Appeals tabled a request from Invenergy for a special exception for the project. A public meeting is scheduled for 6 p.m. Thursday at the Madison County 4-H Fairgrounds in Alexandria.

Anthony Emery, president of Madison County Council, said the council will delay action on a requested tax abatement sought by Invenergy until after the Board of Zoning Appeals makes a decision on the special exception.

"We moved into this house the day after we got married in 1975," Becky Harrison said. "It was his (Curt's) dream home."

Daughter Katy Troxell explained that her parents bought the house in an estate sale while both were still attending Frankton High School.

"It needed a lot of work," Troxell said. "They put a lot of love into it."

Curt Harrison, who grew up in Frankton, wanted a country home for the peace and quiet.

"It's peaceful out here," he noted. "I knew I could fix it up and make something out of it. I wanted to raise a family here."

Last September at the Frankton Heritage Days Festival, Becky heard rumors about a solar farm project. Curt had heard the rumors before but hadn't said anything to his wife. He didn't want to upset her.

"I heard from someone ... that the property owner would talk to us before making a decision," Curt recounted. "But they never did."

The parcel of farm ground to the north of the Harrisons is owned by the Richwine family, and solar panels could also be located northwest of their property.

"I'm concerned that we're going to look out the bedroom window and see solar panels," Becky said.

"I have spent countless hours doing research," she continued. "Every day I learn something new. A soil professional at North Carolina State University said it will ruin the soil and will never be farmed again."

A spokesperson for Invenergy said the project, costing a minimum of $110 million, would generate $26 million in additional property taxes and payments of $34 million to landowners whose property is leased.

Construction on the solar farm would begin this year and would be completed in 2023, according to Invenergy. The solar farm would operate for 35 years.

Applying a formula provided by the Solar Energy Industries Association, the 120 megawatt solar farm would power about 14,400 homes.

But Becky doubts the capacity of the solar farm to produce much electricity at all.

"This is more political than anything," she said. "The government gives grants and interest-free loans to companies to put these solar farms. The energy generated is minimal.

"All it has done is drive a wedge through people in our community," she continued. "It has split the community."

At government meetings called to discuss the solar farm proposal, most of the feedback has come from those opposed. They argue that it would diminish property values while occupying valuable farm land.

But some property owners have already agreed to lease their land for the solar park, saying the extra revenue will help them pay bills, enjoy a higher quality of life and continue to farm the remainder of their land.

As for the Harrisons, Becky said it's not about the money. The solar farm proposal has disrupted her family.

"We care less about the money. We just want our lives back," she said. "We've lived here 44 years. ... Why do we care about the money? It's not about the money; it's fighting for our home."

Curt said for a large part of the year the fields surrounding the Harrison property have been planted in corn and soybeans, which never bothered the family.

Invenergy is proposing a setback of 100 feet from the nearest residence, which is double what Madison County requires.

"If this is approved, I hope they made the setback more than 100 feet," he said.

Becky said that, no matter what transpires, the couple won't sell the house where they've lived for 44 years.

Hambrick seeks stability, success for Shawe hoops

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Sports Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

When Shawe Memorial High School was seeking a new head boys basketball coach, it was looking for an individual with a connection to the school, who hopefully had head coaching experience and planned to be in the position long term. As it turns out, Dan Hambrick fit all three.

Hambrick was officially announced as the Hilltoppers' new boys basketball coach Friday afternoon, replacing Sherron Wilkerson who resigned after one year and was hired at Madison on Wednesday.

Hambrick is certainly no stranger to the Shawe family. The current golf coach at the school, he has already had two children graduate from the school with a third set to graduate later this month. He also has two more currently at Pope John Elementary.

But Hambrick's biggest contribution to the school came as its girls basketball coach, where he scored a school-record 66 wins against 48 defeats from 1990-96 and led the Lady Hilltoppers to the 1994 Ohio River Valley Conference championship — the lone conference crown in program history. Hambrick is still the only coach in program history with a winning record.

"I'm going to feel weird to be back on the sidelines but I think it's going to be good," Hambrick said. "When they approached me about trying to get some stability in the program, that's why they came my way. I haven't coached but I've still been officiating for 25 years so I've been a part of the game, just out on the floor. I think that's a huge benefit for me as a coach."

Hambrick will be Shawe's fourth coach in the last five years, a level of turnover that has cost the program stability and resulted in no winning seasons since reaching the regional championship in 2011.

Providing stability to the program was one of Shawe's goals, according to athletic director Steve Sims, and having a coach of Hambrick's resumé doesn't hurt.

"I think it's a great thing. When we found out that we needed to hire a new basketball coach, we all agreed that we needed to find somebody that is invested in the schools," Sims said. "Dan Hambrick has been a part of it for a lot of different aspects. He's been the golf coach, he's had five children that have gone through the school, he was the girls coach in the '90s. He's done so much for this school over the past 30 years in some aspect. Right now, we have a lot of different avenues for the kids to be involved in and Dan knows how to organize that, he's used to scheduling around that and I think he's the perfect fit to come in here and take this job. I think it's exciting."

"Just thinking about this job, it's hard to believe that I have it. Jack Dwyer was my golf coach and to think that I'm following in his footsteps and all of the other great coaches at this school is amazing and humbling. I'm excited and can't wait to get started."

New Shawe coach
Dan Hambrick

Hambrick will be facing a similar situation this fall as he did in the fall of 1990 when he took over the girls program. Three years later, the Lady Hilltoppers were posting a winning record for the first time ever and winning their first sectional game.

Even though Hambrick admits that the game has changed over the past 25 years, his experience as an official in both Indiana and Kentucky has allowed him to stay out front of the changes. He also hopes to lean on the current coaching staff of Mike Koehler, Mike Gosman and Michael Kring, each of whom he hopes will stay in their current positions.

"I have so much respect for all of those guys and I told them all that I'll be leaning on them big time. They know more Xs and Os between them than I'll ever know," Hambrick said. "They represent such a great cross-section of Shawe history and

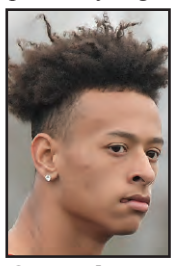
O'Banion wins 400M at HHC championships

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Madison track and field used a strong showing in the sprint events to score a seventh place finish at the boys Hoosier Hills Conference track and field championships Friday night at Jennings County.



O'Banion

Daunte O'Banion won the 400-meter dash in 49.36 for the Cubs' lone win of the meet but Bryce Foy was runner-up in the 200 in 23.73 and Blair Holt was third in the 800 in 2:00.05. Foy added a fifth place in the 100-meter dash in 11.72 and Jack Kelsey ran seventh in the 800 in 2:05.88.

Madison's 400-meter relay team of Xavier Cosby, Christian Lyons, Hayden Todd and Carter Schutte ran seventh in 51.98 while the 3200-meter relay team of Jacob Howell, William Ratcliff, Brady Royalty and Christian Lyons was eighth in 10:21.53. The Cubs' 1600 relay team of Nick Center, Holt, O'Banion and Jack Kelsey just missed scoring points with a ninth place finish in 3:42.27.

Noah Caswell placed seventh in the discus with a throw of 119-07 for Madison's only points in the field events.

Floyd Central won the meet with 336 points while New Albany was a distant second with 256 followed by Bedford North Lawrence 159, Columbus East 13, Jeffersonville 114, Jennings County 95, Madison 78 and Seymour 63.

Madison runs at the IHSAA Jeffersonville Sectional Thursday.

Southwestern's Fink to continue volleyball growth at Ancilla

By DAVID CAMPBELL
Courier Staff Writer
dcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Keely Fink stepped on a volleyball court for the very first time when she was in eighth grade. Tall and athletic, she looked the part of a volleyball player, but she was raw and needed to be taught the game almost from the ground up.

But few have taken to the game like Fink. In five years she has transformed herself from just another player into Southwestern's top offensive weapon and on Wednesday she parlayed that hard work into a college scholarship to Ancilla College in northern Indiana.

"It was between two colleges and after visiting (Ancilla) I just decided that it would be a better fit for me," said Fink, who was joined at her signing by her family and most of her teammates. "I really wanted to go to a small school because I go to a small high school and the coach reminds me of my high school coach. It's good to have the same feeling."

Standing 6-foot, Fink has always been a hitter and a blocker but she was never content to rest on just that. As she got older, she added to her game and became a good enough passer and defender that by her senior year, she was on the floor for nearly all of the Rebels' rotations.

"She's always improved at a fast pace. Between her freshman and sophomore years, I felt like there was an explosion and a ton of improvement," Southwestern coach Chris Johnson said. "She's used to learning that fast pace and whatever (Ancilla) asks of her, she's going to work hard on it and make those improvements."

Ancilla coach Bruce Johnson loved Fink's range of abilities and was thrilled to get her signed. However, he admitted that what drew him to her most was something that can't be taught.

"Honestly, her height. Even though we're a small school, we face 6-2 girls every day and I was missing that last year. Our tallest player was 5-8," said the Ancilla coach. "We needed that height and I think Keely fits into that rotation. Whether she'll be a six-player rotation or just front row, I don't know, but coach (Chris Johnson) said she's really been working on her passing and defense and it's really possible that if she works her butt off, she can be that six-rotation person that we need."

Chris Johnson, for one, has no doubt Fink will not only fit but thrive at Ancilla.

"She's always been a hard worker and somebody that the younger girls look at and see that even if she is a senior, she's still working hard," the Rebels coach said. "She's a great kid and she's been through a lot in her past and I think that's kind of helped her to become a stronger individual. She's really resilient. She can take a lot of criticism and turn that into motivation to get even better."

Ancilla is a two-year school and Fink said after she graduates there she can explore whether she wants to continue with her final two years of volleyball at another college. She plans to major in criminal justice.

Fink was a part of several conference championship teams while at Southwestern as the Rebels experienced a lot of success. But it will be the friendship of her teammates she will cherish the most.

"I'll definitely miss playing with them. I got really close with a couple of the freshmen, Meaghan (Kramer) and Marissa (Naylor), and I'm going to miss them and miss playing with them," Fink said. "I'll definitely miss my high school team, but I'm looking forward to becoming close with my new team in college."

Carroll sees five sign for softball, track, equestrian, Esports

By MARK CAMPBELL
Courier Sports Editor
mcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Carroll County High School recently held its annual college signing day — the day when Panther athletes who plan to compete at the next level announce their college choices — with five seniors and their family and friends on hand for the ceremony.

The group included a pair of softball players, a track athlete and two students in the somewhat non-traditional pursuits of equestrian and Esports.

Dane Lacefield

Dane Lacefield will major in sports business management at Cincinnati Christian University and compete for the school's electronic sports team.

Lacefield has played Esports for several years, becoming proficient in several games including playing for one of the top teams in the world in NBA2K. Lacefield currently plays in tournaments just about every weekend against opponents from around the world.

Cincinnati Christian fields teams in NBA2K as well as Overwatch, Fortnight, League of Legends, Rocket League, Madden football, Smash Bros and FIFA19 and offers scholarships ranging up to full tuition to some of the gamers who compete on the university's behalf.

Lacefield, who has also played football, baseball and baseball at Carroll County, will receive one of those partial scholarships.

"I never imagined that something I just loved to do would be able to pay for my college," Lacefield said of his $11,500-per-year scholarship to Cincinnati Christian.

Cassidy Buchanan

Cassidy Buchanan will major in equine management at Midway University and compete on the school's Hunt Seat Equestrian team.

Since Carroll County does not field an equestrian team, Buchanan has pursued the sport on her own with the support of her parents and the owners and staff at the Zubrod, Biggins and Reiser stables. In fact, she's been involved with horses since age two and managed her own family's stables since age 12. She has worked and trained at several stables and served as a co-op employee at the Reiser Stables in Simpsonville, Kentucky, during high school.

A Top 20 Senior and National Honor Society member, Buchanan has won numerous championships through 4-H and the American

Former Hanover player Shrewsberry hired as associated head coach for Purdue

WEST LAFEYETTE — Former Hanover College player and assistant coach Micah Shrewsberry has been named men's associate head basketball coach at Purdue University.

The announcement came last week by Purdue head coach Matt Painter soon after the Boston Celtics were eliminated in the NBA Eastern Conference playoffs.

Shrewsberry had most recently been an assistant to head coach Brad Stevens with the Celtics, He succeeds Greg Gary, who left Purdue after last season to become the head coach at Mercer.

Shrewsberry, 42, is a native of Indianapolis where he played for Cathedral High School before playing point guard for former Hanover coach Mike Beitzel from 1995-99.

Shrewsberry has previously served as a college assistant at Wabash, DePauw, Butler and Purdue and as director of basketball operations at Marshall. He was also head coach at Indiana University South Bend before leaving to work under Stevens at Butler where the Bulldogs went to two NCAA Final Fours.

NCAA committee proposes moving 3s to international line, expanding replays

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The NCAA men's basketball rules committee is proposing moving the 3-point line to the international distance and resetting the shot clock to 20 seconds following offensive rebounds.

Both rules could take effect next season in Division I. College basketball's other two divisions would wait until 2020-21 to move the 3-point line because of the cost.

The Playing Rules Oversight Panel will vote on the recommendations June 5.

Rules committee members made their proposals after receiving feedback from the coaches who competed in the NIT each of the past two years, which used the international line on an experimental basis.

The international 3-point distance is 22 feet, 1.75 inches, a little more than a foot back from the current college line.

"Freedom of movement in the game remains important, and we feel this will open up the game," said Colorado coach Tad Boyle, the committee's chairman. "We believe this will remove some of the congestion on the way to the basket."

The line moved out a foot to 20 feet, 9 inches before the 2008-09 season. The NCAA said the 3-point percentage dipped from 35.2 percent in 2007-08 to 34.4 percent in 2008-09 with that change, though it eventually climbed back to 35.2 percent in Division I by the 2017-18 season.

The proposal for the shot-clock change was designed to improve the pace of the game, with the NCAA stating the committee believes the full 30-second clock isn't needed when the offensive team securing the rebound already is in the front court.

As with the current rule, the clock reset would take place only when a shot has hit the rim.

The committee also proposed:

— Assessing Flagrant 2 fouls, which include ejections, if derogatory epithets are used.

— Allowing coaches to call live-ball timeouts during the final two minutes of regulation or overtime.

— Expanding replay reviews to include basket interference or goaltending calls in the final two minutes of regulation or overtime.

Lakers hire former Pacers head coach UK manager Frank Vogel as head coach

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A person familiar with the search says the Los Angeles Lakers have hired Frank Vogel as coach and Jason Kidd as an assistant.

The person spoke to The Associated Press on condition of anonymity Saturday because Vogel's three-year contract has not been finalized. Vogel flew to Los Angeles on Thursday and met with a group that included owner Jeanie Buss, general manager Rob Pelinka and adviser Kurt Rambis.

The 45-year old Vogel worked for the organization before as an advance scout during the 2005-06 season. He did not coach last season following two years with the Orlando Magic. Vogel went to Orlando following five-plus seasons leading the Indiana Pacers, including trips to the Eastern Conference finals in 2013 and '14. He has a career record of 304-291.

Vogel served as a manager at Kentucky under coach Rick Pitino and played on the Wildcats' junior varsity in the mid-90s. He then landed his first coaching job in 2001 as an assistant to Pitino with the Boston Celtics where he was the head video coordinator.

Kidd interviewed with the Lakers last month. The former star player who was a head coach in Brooklyn and Milwaukee was fired by the Bucks during the 2017-18 season. He has a 183-190 record.

The Lakers have missed the playoffs six straight seasons. The drought was expected to end this season but injuries to LeBron James, Lonzo Ball and Brandon Ingram, as well as internal discord, resulted in a 37-45 record.

It's an interesting pairing in many ways, including how Vogel was fired by Indiana in 2016 and Orlando in 2018 — and how he simply could never get past James in the playoffs.

The Pacers thought they had a title-contender in 2012, 2013 and 2014, and James and the Miami Heat eliminated them in all three of those postseasons. Vogel won 58 percent of his games in parts of six seasons with Indiana, but the lasting image of his tenure there is the fact that those clubs were always ousted by Miami.

Now, Vogel and James will be on the same side, both looking for a resurgence. This season was James' first without a playoff appearance since 2005 and ended his streak of eight consecutive trips to the NBA Finals. Vogel is coming off a 54-110 tenure in two seasons with Orlando, while the Magic were rebuilding.

Vogel is known mainly as a defensive coach. Indiana led the league in defensive efficiency twice and was in the top 10 during his five-plus seasons. The Lakers were tied for 13th in defensive efficiency last season. An official announcement announcing his hiring is expected this week, which would mark the start of a busy week for the Lakers. They will take part in the draft lottery today and will also be at the draft combine.

Vogel's hiring is the first step in what will be — and has already been — an eventful and critical offseason for the Lakers, who will be on their sixth coach since Phil Jackson stepped down after the 2010-11 season.

The firing of Luke Walton as coach April 12 was not unexpected, and came three days after Magic Johnson stunned the team and just about everybody else by giving up his role running the club. Johnson, the former Lakers star, dropped that news in an impromptu news conference held roughly 90 minutes before the regular-season finale.

The Lakers pursued several other candidates, and appeared to be closing in on a deal with Tyronn Lue that would have looked to make sense in many ways. Lue played for the Lakers, was part of two teams that won championships there, and coached James to the 2016 NBA title in Cleveland. But that deal never got to the finish line, and the Lakers' search quickly moved toward Vogel.

The Lakers also considered Monty Williams, who was hired by the Phoenix Suns, and Juwan Howard and J.B. Bickerstaff

The Lakers expect to have more than $40 million in salary cap space this summer and will likely resume their pursuit of Anthony Davis — who would have to be traded by New Orleans — either around the draft or the July 1 start of free agency. When that player-shopping window begins, the Lakers will likely try to land Kawhi Leonard and other big names who might be willing to play with James.

And there is a slew of roster work to do. The Lakers had several rotation players on either one-year or expiring deals this season, a list that includes Rajon Rondo, Kentavious Caldwell-Pope, Lance Stephenson, JaVale McGee and Tyson Chandler.

Pagenaud wins 3rd IndyCar Grand Prix win with late splashy move in rain

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Simon Pagenaud ended his victory drought Saturday with a splashy move — and a rooster tail celebration.

He completed a daring three-turn pass on the second-to-last lap and sped away from Scott Dixon for his third IndyCar Grand Prix victory and first series win since the 2017 season finale at Sonoma. Pagenaud beat five-time series champion Scott Dixon by 2.0469 seconds.

"I always look for rain because it's fun driving in the rain," he said. "It's a fun exercise. On a dry track, it's very much repetitive. The wet is what I used to grow up on racing. It's just a lot of fun in the rain."

While other drivers struggled with tire wear on the wet road course, Pagenaud got even more aggressive — a trick he learned driving in his home country of France.

Pagenaud said he experimented with the braking, threw in some fakes and took advantage of other drivers' second thoughts.

The result: He erased a six-plus second differential with Dixon in the final five laps and there was nothing the five-time series champion could do to stop the hard-charging Pagenaud.

Track workers will convert the speedway from a road course to the traditional 2.5-mile oval in preparation for the 103rd running of the Indianapolis 500.

Practice for the May 26 race begins today.

Hanover track competes at Mount Olive, North Central

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

A trio of Panther track & field athletes made the trip to compete in the Mount Olive First Chance and Multi on Friday and Saturday in Mount Olive, North Carolina.

The Division II-hosted meet saw Joe Sheryak and Riley Cook compete in the men's decathlon, while Kenna Hunter was a participant in the women's heptathlon.

Hunter, a junior from Mooresville, recorded 4,080 points over seven events to place sixth overall and move inside the top 50 in NCAA Division III this spring. Her point total was also a new personal record and keeps her second all-time at Hanover.

Hunter finished fifth or better in every event on Friday while recording over 650 points in three events. Highlighting the day were the high jump and shot put where she met or surpassed personal records with marks of 1.58 meters and 8.27 meters, respectively.

Day two saw Hunter tally 1,574 points in three events, led by a win in the final event, the 800-meter run where she ran a 2:30.72 for a daily high of 684 points. Hunter's top point-performance came in the final event on day one, the 200-meter dash where she ran a 26.93 that was good enough for 718 points.

On the men's side, Cook, a freshman from Corydon, tallied 4,873 points over 10 events in his first collegiate decathlon, placing him second all-time at Hanover.

Cook started strong, tallying 2,992 points over the first five events on Friday. His 5.85-meter long jump was a personal best, while his 1.92-meter high jump tied a personal record and produced his highest point total over the two days at 731. Cook was third in the high jump.

The freshman then set personal records in all five events Saturday. His top performance came in the final 1500-meter run where he was seventh for 556 points with a time of 5:00.60.

Sheryak, a senior from Greenwood, competed in all five events on day one before retiring from the overall competition. In his final three events on Friday, Sheryak tied or set personal records which helped lead to 3,273 points on the day. The shot put (10.38 meters), high jump (1.83m) and 400 dash (50.70) all produced more than 500 points, led by 783 in the 400, which was also good enough for fifth place.

On Thursday, Jacob Hedrick capped his stellar college running career with one final school record in the Dr. Keeler Track & Field Invitational at North Central (Ill.).

Hedrick, a senior from Memphis, Indiana, and a graduate of Henryville High School, finished 14th in the 5000-meter run in 14:53.33 — a school record in the event. He closes out the season having broken his own school record in the event in each of the last three meets.

Three other Hanover athletes competed in the event on Thursday. Erin Trimpe, a senior from New Palestine, placed fourth in the pole vault at 3.67 meters while Emily Clancy, a senior from Columbus, was 13th in the same event at 3.37 meters.

Erin Browning, a sophomore from Greensburg, was 10th in the hammer throw at 47.19 meters.

The Panthers' final scheduled event prior to the NCAA Division III National Championships will be a return trip to North Central (Ill.) for the Gregory Invitational on Wednesday and Thursday.

Hornets' 4-run rally in 7th inning stings softball Cubs 10-9 on road

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

Henryville scored four runs in the bottom of the seventh to pull out a 10-9 win over Madison softball Friday in Henryville.

The two teams traded runs all night and entered the seventh tied at 6-6 when Madison seemed to get the breathing room it needed.

Softball Roundup

Abby Moore singled and Bailey Dyer reached on a fielder's choice before Kennedy Stidham laced a two-out single to score both. Emma Cammack then followed with an RBI single to put the Cubs ahead 9-6.

But Henryville came roaring back with five hits in the bottom half of the inning with the big blow a two-run, walk-off single by Autumn Osborne for the game-winner.

"I thought we played well enough to win they just made one play more than us," Madison coach Tony Ralston said. "It was a good ballgame we just didn't end up on the right end of it. I thought we hit really well."

Madison collected 16 hits in the game with six players recording multi-hit games. Cammack was 3-for-5 with a double and three RBIs, Hannah Uhl was 3-for-4 with a double and two runs scored, Paige Young had two doubles and two RBIs, Bailey Dyer had two hits and scored three runs, Stidham had two hits and Morgan Cahall had two hits and two RBIs.

Bailee Schmidt started for the Cubs and allowed four earned runs on eight hits in eight innings with three strikeouts and a walk. Moore took the loss in relief after giving up six runs — three earned — on nine hits in two and two-thirds innings with a strikeouts.

Madison (8-14) were to host Clarksville Monday.

Mistakes cost Rebels 11-1 setback at Milan

A night after fielding mistakes doomed Southwestern softball in a loss to sectional rival Milan, the shoe was on the other foot as the Rebels took advantage of four errors and pounded out 13 hits in an 11-1 whipping of another sectional rival, South Ripley, Friday in Versailles.

Southwestern scored in every inning but the fifth and plated five runs in the third to blow open the game. Lakyn Wilson didn't need that much offense but the senior ace was happy to take it and held Ripley to just three hits in six innings while striking out eight and walking none for the win.

"Tonight was a culmination of a great week for us. We've played four games and have gotten better each night," Southwestern coach Duane Ralston said. "Morgan (Mahoney) and Lakyn both had great games but everyone contributed tonight. Lakyn had an outstanding day pitching, and it might have been one of her best I've seen in her career here. I think we proved that when we play defense for seven innings and we put together some hits we are a team to contend with."

Mahoney had a huge game at the plate for the Rebels, going 4-for-4 with three runs and two RBIs while Wilson was 3-for-4 with a double and four RBIs. Abby Fulton had a hit, drove in two runs and scored a run, Brooklyn Sachleben had a hit, an RBI and a run scored, and Cadence Humes, Trinity McLain and Kailey Burns each had a hit and scored a run.

Southwestern (8-8, 3-5 Ohio River Valley) were to host Providence Monday.

Shiners shut out Shawe, keep 'Toppers winless

Shawe softball was no match for Rising Sun in a 25-0 loss on Friday in Madison.

The Hilltoppers were held to just one hit — a Grace McAllister single with two outs in the fifth inning — and committed eight errors in the loss.

Kristen Snodgrass took the loss in the circle after allowing 14 earned runs on 21 hits in five innings with five strikeouts and three walks.

Syndey Pitts worked the first three innings for the Shiners and struck out six to pick up the win. She was also 3-for-6 at the plate with three RBIs.

Lindsay Montgomery had three hits, scored three times and drove in eight runs for Rising Sun while Syndey Bostic was 3-for-5 with a double, three runs and two RBIs.

Shawe (0-15, 0-11 ORVC) visits South Ripley Wednesday.

Trimble goes 1-1 at Lanesville Invitational

Trimble County softball split a pair of games in the Lanesville Invitational on Saturday.

The Raiders dropped the opener to host Lanesville 12-3 before whipping Austin 17-2 in the finale.

Lanesville jumped on Trimble early and led 6-0 after four innings. Trimble got a three-double by McKenna Ritchie in the bottom of the fourth to cut the leads in half, but the Eagles scored two more runs in the fifth and four in the sixth to pull away.

Racheal Liter had two of the Raiders' four hits in the game and Shelby Wilcoxson had a hit. Abby Ponder struck out 10 and walked three while allowing only three earned runs in seven innings but was tagged with the loss.

Trimble rapped out 14 hits in the game two rout led by Emma Ginn, who was 4-for-5 with a triple and four RBIs. Liter and Kaylee Payton each had three hits, scored three runs and had two RBIs, Gracie Bromwell was 2-for-2 with a double, two runs and two RBIs, and Ponder and Haley Howard each had a double and an RBI.

Ponder allowed one unearned run on one hit with eight strikeouts in four innings to get the win. Ritchie worked the final two innings and gave up a run on one hit with a strikeout.

Trimble (14-8) hosts Carroll County on Wednesday.

Switzerland Co. rout South Ripley 9-1

Switzerland County softball scored a big win over a conference and sectional opponent with a 9-1 victory over South Ripley at home on Saturday.

The Pacers, (11-5, 7-3 ORVC) was to play at Jac-Cen-Del Monday.

they're great basketball minds. I'm hoping they stay around."

Shawe went 4-19 last season and hasn't won more than five games in a season since the 2014-15 school year. But the Hilltoppers are not without talent. Seniors Ethan Stewart and Chandler Cole along with sophomore Henry Grote give Shawe a strong nucleus next season and the eighth grade class moving up shows promise.

For Hambrick, the key to success is having his team play the game the right way. He emphasized the words "attitude" and "respect" when meeting his new team and it was something he repeated later.

"Respect and attitude are so important. As an official, I've seen it on the floor and it makes a big difference," Hambrick said. "You play the game the right way and you can have success.

"Just thinking about this job, it's hard to believe that I have it," Hambrick said. "Jack Dwyer was my golf coach and to think that I'm following in his footsteps and all of the other great coaches at this school is amazing and humbling. I'm excited and can't wait to get started."

Buchanan's scholarships to Midway — both academic and to ride Hunt Seat — total $48,000 over the four years.

Haley Austin

Haley Austin will play softball at Midway University where she plans to major in business.

Carroll softball head coach Chelsea Zink has coach Austin for five years and described her as an "huge asset" to the program and a leader whose positive attitude has paid off on the field and rubbed off on her teammates. "We're really going to miss her," she said.

Kay Gaddis will play softball at Berea College where she plans to major in psychology.

Zink, who has also coached Gaddis for five years, described her as "quiet but still shows leadership skills" and the type of player who works hard both off and on the field and she can't wait to see what she can accomplish at the next level.

Lauren Cox

Lauren Cox will run track and field at Bellarmine University where she plans to major in physical therapy.

"I just want to go ahead and say on record that this women has been a gem to me," Carroll track coach Ryan Laswell said of Cox. "You all have known her a lot longer than I have but Lauren's professionalism and her hard work both on and off the track field has been tremendous ... academically she's above a 4.0 student, on the track she is a leader to everybody. I am so excited for this woman because she is definitely deserving of this moment."

Cubs put up little fight to drop 3rd straight in HHC tourney

By MARK CAMPBELL
Courier Sports Editor
mcampbell@madisoncourier.com

Madison looked flat on the opening night of the 2019 Hoosier Hills Conference baseball tournament on Monday and the Cubs closed it out with more of the same on Friday.

After being no-hit by Jeffersonville's Ben Harbeson 19-0 in five innings Monday, the Cubs lost 7-0 at Class 4A No. 3 Columbus East Wednesday in the consolation semifinals. Friday's game for seventh place saw the Cubs at least score a few runs, but they were too little and too late in a 16-6 setback to Seymour at Gary O'Neal Field.

"I can't teach fight," Madison coach Tim Armstrong said after his team's third demoralizing defeat of the tournament to fall to 7-10 overall with losses in eight of the Cubs' last nine games.

"We came in here and didn't do the little things it takes to compete and that's what's important to me," Armstrong said. "It's not just the errors and the mistakes but the attitudes of some of our guys. It's how you carry yourself on the field and how you act on the bench. It's disappointing."

With little more than pride on the line, the Cubs showed little life from the start on Friday as Seymour jumped out to a 5-0 lead in the Owls' first two at-bats. Madison got a run back in the second but Seymour answered with a run in the third and two in the fourth to push ahead 8-1.

Madison finally showed some push-back in the bottom of the fifth to put across four runs, but Seymour quickly erased that momentum with a six-run sixth and a three-run seventh before the Cubs plated a run in the seventh for the final margin.

"We gave ourselves a chance when we scored the four runs in the fifth inning — we were right back in it trailing 8-5 — but there was still no excitement on our part," Armstrong said. "It's not a matter of being flat. It's a matter of having heart."

Armstrong said he had hoped the Cubs would try to exact some revenge on the Owls for Madison's shocking 7-6 loss at Seymour on April 16. The Cubs carried a 6-3 lead into the bottom of the seventh and had two outs on Seymour when Jake Roberts blasted a walk-off grand slam to steal the win.

Roberts was 2-for-4 with a pair of doubles and two RBIs Friday while Braden Christopher had a double and three RBIs, Matthew Moore was 1-for-4 with two RBIs and R.J. Kiebler was 2-for-6 with two RBIs for the Owls.

The Owls out-hit the Cubs 14-8 overall and Moore, Seymour's starter, didn't give up a hit until a Quinten Humes single to left in the fourth inning.

Madison got the bulk of its hits in the four-run fifth when Anthony Demarco led off with a walk and Cooper Yancey was hit by a pitch with one out. Zach Forner then singled to right, Mason Welsh delivered a two-run single to center, Gabe True had an RBI single to right and Hunter Ferris slapped an RBI single to left before a pop up and a fly out ended the inning and stranded two.

Demarco and Forner both singled to center in the sixth but Demarco was erased on a fielder's choice and Forner was stranded when Yancey was thrown out trying to go to third on Forner's hit.

Armstrong said he was encouraged by the play of some of his bench players late. After pulling several of his starters in the seventh, the reserves went to work in Madison's final at-bat. Keaton Rowlett reached on a Seymour error, Jacob Smith walked and Keegan Clement singled to third base to load the bases with one out before a ground out to the pitcher by Trenton Barnes scored Rowlett and a strikeout looking by Demarco ended the game.

Ferris got the start for Madison and went three innings, giving up seven runs — three earned — on five hits with one strikeout and one walk. Forner went three innings, allowing 10 runs — seven earned — on nine hits and three walks with six strikeouts. Barnes came on with the bases loaded in the seventh to get the final three outs, allowing no runs on no hits with a walk and a strikeout.

Madison's next game will be on the road when the Cubs get a second shot at Jeffersonville today.

Madison's Trenton Barnes (right, 12) gives Mason Welsh a pat on the helmet after Welsh struck out during the Cubs' 16-6 loss to Seymour Friday at Gary O'Neal Field. Rebs stay red-hot for South Ripley but get cooled by Salem

Red-hot Rebels rout Raiders on two-hitter

Southwestern's red-hot Rebels made quick work of Ohio River Valley Conference and sectional rival South Ripley Friday as pitcher Zach Cole carried a no-hitter into the Raiders' final at-bat of a 12-1 baseball win in five innings.

Baseball Roundup

Cole, a freshman right-hander, went the distance to strike out seven — three of those in the final inning — and walk one. He didn't allow a hit until Cory Ralston's one-out single in the bottom of the fifth but then gave up a two-out double to Noah Eggleston to break up the shutout before striking out Kendall Stephen to end the game.

Meanwhile, Southwestern had seven hits while also drawing 10 walks, a seemingly a daily occurrence by the patient Rebel hitters, to score 12 runs — nine earned — as South Ripley sent Richie Block, Ralston and Trenton Burford to the hill.

The Rebels scored a run in the first, three in the third, one in the fourth and seven in the fifth to bury the Raiders 12-0 and put the mercy rule in play in the bottom of the fifth. Cole's third strikeout of the inning ended the game early.

Mitchell Adcock led Southwestern at the plate, going 3-for-3 with four RBIs while Tyler Kramer was 1-for-3 with two RBIs and Foster Mefford doubled and drove in a run. Cole and Trevor Smith were both 1-for-1 with an RBI each, Nate Lichlyter was 1-for-2 with an RBI and Talon Harmon was 1-for-3 with an RBI.

On Saturday, the Rebels were limited to just three hits in a 4-1 loss at Salem.

Southwestern picked up two of those safeties in the third inning when they scored their only run when Jackson Stockdale led off the inning with a single and later scored on a Cole RBI double.

By the time Southwestern scored its run it was already trailing 4-0. Salem scored two runs in the bottom of the first on a passed ball and an RBI single and added two more in the second.

Lichlyter took the loss for Southwestern after allowing all four runs on five hits in two innings with a strikeout and two walks. Landon DeAtley worked the final four innings and gave up only two hits while striking out three.

Stockdale had the Rebels' other hit and was 2-for-2 on the day.

Southwestern (13-9, 7-2 ORVC) was to host Milan Monday.

Rally in 7th tops Carroll

Franklin County scored three unearned runs in the top of the seventh inning to pull out a 7-6 win over Carroll County baseball Friday in Carrollton.

The Panthers scored three runs in the bottom of the first and three more in the third to take what appeared to be a commanding 6-1 lead before Franklin County started chipping away.

Franklin scored three runs in the fifth to close the gap to two then won the game in the seventh.

Craig Beach started for the Panthers and allowed four runs — two earned — on five hits in four and a third innings with three strikeouts and two walks. Zach Clifford took the loss after allowing the three unearned runs and striking out four in two and two-thirds innings.

Clifford was also 2-for-4 with a double and two RBIs at the plate. Luke Staley and Phoenix Owen each had two hits and scored a run, Logan Rodgers had a hit and two RBIs and David Duncan and Andrew Shaw each had a hit.

On Saturday, Carroll split a pair of games in the Hometown Pharmacy Invitational at Harrison County.

Carroll picked up an 8-4 win over Newport in the opener before losing 13-1 to host Harrison in the finale.

Against Newport, Carroll scored three runs in the third, two in the sixth and three more in the seventh to pull away for the win.

Clifford had a pair of doubles and knocked in a run for the Panthers, Dane Lacefield had a double, an RBI and a run scored and Landry Kelton had a double. Kennedy Daigle had a hit and an RBI, Chris Perkinson, Luke Staley and Phoenix Owen each had a hit and scored a run and Jacob Polley had a hit.

Andrew Shaw picked up the win on the mound after limiting Newport to one earned run on three hits in five innings with three strikeouts and three walks. Jaxon Hewitt earned the save after allowing three runs on four hits in two innings with a strikeout.

Harrison scored early and often to blow out Carroll in game two. The Thorobreds scored three in the first, six in the second and four in the third for all the runs they would need.

Carroll was limited to just four hits, two by Clifford. Daigle had a hit and an RBI, Shaw collected a hit and Kelton scored a run.

Polley started and suffered the loss after giving up 12 runs — 10 earned — on seven hits in two and a third innings with three strikeouts and four walks. David Duncan allowed a run in two-thirds innings of relief and Staley pitched a scoreless inning.

Carroll (13-10) wraps up the regular season with a pair of home games this week, against Woodford County today and Trimble County Thursday.

Shiners blank Shawe

Class A No. 4 Rising Sun flexed its muscles in a 22-0 shutout of Shawe Memorial baseball Friday in Madison.

The Shiners pounded out 15 hits while Rising Sun starter Jacob Bovard allowed only a fourth-inning single to Hunter Kennett while striking out 10 in the one-hit shutout.

Kennett also took the loss on the mound after giving up 16 runs on seven hits in an inning and a third with two strikeouts and five walks. But only two of the 16 runs he allowed were earned as the Hilltopper defense committed several costly errors in what was a 12-run second inning.

Walker Kennett went the final three and two-thirds innings on the mound for the Hilltoppers, allowing six earned runs on eight hits with five strikeouts and a walk.

In addition to his pitching, Bovard was also 4-for-4 at the plate with a double, an RBI and five runs scored. Brayden Bush was 3-for-5 with two doubles, four RBIs and four runs scored and Steven Jimenez was 3-for-3 with five runs scored.

Shawe (2-15, 1-8 ORVC) visits South Ripley Wednesday.

Raiders fall in 8 innings

Gallatin County scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh to tie the game and then won the game in the eighth to beat Trimble County baseball 9-8 Friday in Warsaw.

Trimble trailed 6-3 before scoring four runs in the sixth to seize the lead and then adding a run in the eighth to go ahead 8-6.

But Gallatin came back, scoring two runs in the seventh on RBI singles by Ethan Baker and Wyatt Bowen to force extra innings and then answered the Raiders again in the bottom of the eighth to score the game-winner when Hunter Jones walked and scored all the way from first when the Raiders' threw away a Brayden Terrell sacrifice bunt attempt.

Matt Saylor started on the hill for Trimble and struck out 10 in four and a third innings but also walked seven. Dalton Penick was tagged with the loss after allowing three runs on three hits in two and two-thirds innings.

Penick and Saylor also had two hits each with two RBIs, Landon Sutherland had two hits and an RBI, Seth Brewer had a double and drove in a run, Ryan Goody had a hit and scored twice, Austin Cissell had a hit, an RBI and scored a run, and Ray Payton had a hit and scored a run.

Trimble's game on Saturday at Lloyd Memorial was canceled. The Raiders (2-16, 2-5 North Central Kentucky Conference) visits Henry County today.

Carroll bass anglers 21st, 83rd at state

COURIER STAFF REPORT
sports@madisoncourier.com

The Carroll County duo of Duncan Tingle and Quinten Clem finish 21st overall at the KHSAA Bass Fishing State Finals on Kentucky Lake on Saturday.

Tingle and Clem followed their day one performance of five catches for 10 pounds, one ounce with five catches for eight pounds, nine ounces on day two for a total of 10 fish for 18 pounds, 10 ounces. Their big bass from Friday of 2 pounds, 15 ounces proved to be their biggest of the weekend.

The Panthers' second team of Wyatt Adair and Conner Hartman failed to catch a fish on day two and finished 83rd overall with four catches for 7 pounds, 6 ounces. Their big fish was 2 pounds, 14 ounces.

South Laurel's Shawn Coots and Trent Keltner continued their hot pace from Friday with five more bass and 13 pounds, 4 ounces to run away with the state championship with 10 fish for a total of 32 pounds, 13 ounces. They also had the Big Bass for the weekend at 5 pounds, 4 ounces on Friday.

4-Hers work on projects, crafts at fairgrounds

4-H members met at the Jefferson County Fairgrounds Community Building May 11 to participate in multiple 4-H project workshops, including arts and crafts, working with flowers and giftwrapping. First-year 4-Hers Bethany Pickett (far left), Emma Pickett (middle) and Hannah Skirvin (right) watch Trinity Stoner, one of the 4-H member volunteers, how to work on a project that involved stencils. 4-H leaders also provided information and pamphlets (below) to help those who participated finish their projejcts.

Group plants pollinator demonstrations around county

The Pollinator Action Group changed its plans Saturday and moved from the Hanover United Methodist Church to the Jefferson County Fairgrounds to plant one of its six demonstration sites in the area. The ground at church was too wet after recent rains but the site at the fairgrounds had drained enough for the plants to go in. The demonstration sites are to help the public understand the various combination of plants designed to attract different pollinators. The bed at the fairgrounds contains walkways so visitors can get a closer look at the different kinds of plants and how they are arranged in the beds. Vicki Wehner (far left), coordinator at the Jefferson County Soil and Water Conservation District, and volunteers Joe Robinson and Linda Sloffer tackle one part of the project. Volunteer Andy Buxton (left) helps to set the plants into the ground. The finished bed (above) with plants carefulluy grouped for visitors.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
SPRING 2019 CCMG STREET IMPROVEMENTS
TOWN OF HANOVER
JEFFERSON COUNTY, INDIANA
Notice is hereby given, that the Town of Hanover, Indiana, Jefferson County, Indiana, hereinafter referred to as the Owner, will receive sealed bids for the Spring 2019 CCMG Street Improvements. Sealed BIDS for the construction of the 2019 CCMG Street Improvements will be received by the Town of Hanover at 11 Madison Avenue, Hanover, IN 47243 until 6:15 P.M. Local Time on June 4th, 2019. Bids received after this time will be returned unopened. If Bids are forwarded by mail, the sealed envelope containing the Bids must be enclosed in another envelope addressed to the Owner at 11 Madison Avenue, P.O. Box 288, Hanover, IN 47243. Bids will be publicly opened and read aloud at the Town of Hanover, Town Hall located at, 11 Madison Avenue, Hanover, IN 47243 on June 4th, 2019, at 6:15 P.M. Local Time.
A pre-bid phone conference will be held at 10:00 A.M. (Eastern Time) on May 21st, 2019 by dialing (712)-775-7270 and using Access Code 763186. All prime contractors, subcontractors, small, minority or women owned enterprises and other interested parties are invited to attend.
The Bids must be submitted on the Bid Forms provided and in accordance with the Bidding Documents prepared by Midwestern Engineers, Inc., Loogootee, Indiana.
The Spring 2019 CCMG Street Improvements consists of new curb ramps, replacing sidewalks, and resurfacing asphalt pavement within the Town of Hanover.
The Plans and Specifications for the project are on file and may be examined at the following locations:

Midwestern Engineers, Inc., 802 West Broadway St., Loogootee, IN 47553

Plans and Specifications may be obtained at the office of Midwestern Engineers, Inc. The service charge for Contractors to view the plans for preparing their bid is as follows: 1) Viewing on CD (as portable document format (PDF) files) - $50.00 per set, 2) Viewing by download at midwesterneng.com/planroom - $30.00 per set and 3) Viewing paper-bound printed plans and specifications - $300.00 per set. All service charges for viewing are non-refundable. When plans and specifications are ordered from midwesterneng.com/planroom, instructions for payment will be provided in the downloading process. Requests for plans and specifications to the office of Midwestern Engineers, Inc., for a CD or paper-bound set, shall be accompanied by a check or money order.
The work to be performed and the bid to be submitted shall include sufficient and proper sums for all general construction, mechanical installation, labor, materials, permits, licenses, insurance, and so forth incidental to and required for the construction of the facilities.
Each bid must be enclosed in a sealed envelope bearing the title of the Project and the name and address of Bidder. All bids must be submitted on the bid forms as identified in the Contract Documents and Specifications.
Each bid shall be accompanied by a certified check or acceptable bidder's bond made payable to the Owner, in a sum of not less than five percent (5%) of the total amount of the highest aggregate bid, which check or bond will be held by the Owner as evidence that the bidder will, if awarded the contract, enter into the same with the Owner upon notification from him to do so within ten (10) days of said notification. Bidder's bond must include certified copy of the power of attorney.
Approved performance and payment bonds guaranteeing faithful and proper performance of the work and materials, to be executed by an acceptable surety company, will be required of the Contractor at the time he executes his contract. The bond will be in the amount of 100% of the Contract Price and must be in full force and effect throughout the term of the Construction Contract plus a period of twelve (12) months from the date of substantial completion.
Bid security of the three lowest Bidders will be retained until the Contract has been awarded an executed, but no longer than ninety (90) days from the date of opening Bids. The Owner reserves the right to reject any bid, or all bids, or to accept any bid or bids, or to make such combination of bids as may seem desirable, and to waive any and all informalities in bidding. Any bid may be withdrawn prior to the above scheduled time for the opening of bids or authorized postponement thereof. Any bid received after the time and date specified shall not be considered. No bid may be withdrawn after the scheduled closing time for receipt of bids for at least ninety (90) days.

A conditional or qualified Bid will not be accepted.
Award will be made to the low, responsive, responsible bidder.
All applicable laws, ordinances, and the rules and regulations of all authorities having jurisdiction over construction of the project shall apply to the project throughout.
Bids shall be properly and completely executed on bid forms included in the Specifications. Bids shall include all information requested by Indiana Form 96 (Revised 2013) included with the Specifications. Under Section III of Form 96, the Bidder shall submit a financial statement. The Owner may make such investigations as deemed necessary to determine the ability of the Bidder to perform the work and the Bidder shall furnish to the Owner all such information and data for this purpose as the Owner may request. The Owner reserves the right to reject any bid if the evidence submitted by, or investigation of, such Bidder fails to satisfy the Owner that such Bidder is properly qualified to carry out the obligations of the Agreement and to complete the work contemplated therein.
Each Bidder is responsible for inspecting the Project site(s) and for reading and being thoroughly familiar with the Contract Documents and Specifications. The failure or omission of any Bidder to do any of the foregoing shall in no way relieve any Bidder from any obligation with respect to its Bid.

BRIDGE

DESCRIBE THE NATURE OF A HAND QUICKLY

W. Bruce Cameron, who is best known for his novel "A Dog's Purpose," wrote, "There are apparently three factors that lead to longevity: heredity, habits and what your wife will let you get away with."

The single most important factor to the longevity of bridge is the fact that there are so many exceptions to the basic guidelines. However, if you stick to the tried and true guidelines, you will come out ahead most of the time.

How would you critique this auction? What should happen in four hearts?

I agree with North's Unusual Two No-Trump, showing at least 5-5 in the red suits. Yes, if East-West win the auction, they will have a road map of the deal, but why should that happen? Two no-trump gives much more information to South than would a one-heart overcall. (In a 15-table duplicate, when North did bid one heart, East made a negative double, and the unbeatable four-spade contract was easily reached.)

After East's double, showing a good hand with defensive values, either West or East should have doubled four hearts, knowing that his side had the balance of power. Then West should have started the defense with the ace and another heart, to cut down declarer's ruffing winners. South would have taken only one spade, four hearts, one diamond and three club ruffs on the board.

Instead, West led the diamond queen, which East thought was a singleton. So, when declarer shortly led a low diamond from the board, East put up his king, squashing his partner's jack and establishing dummy's nine as a 10th trick for South.

Putting your best foot (and shoe) forward in the workplace

Annie Lane

Dear Annie: I've been working as professional for more than 10 years, and I'm arriving at the point in my career where I'm now responsible for spending more time meeting with clients. I'm excited for my continued growth and success, and I'm always seeking ways to grow. I have a handful of mentors who teach me, and I frequently read about management philosophy and practices. I believe that I'm helping myself through these activities.

One of my mentors always encourages me to optimize my confidence. She believes one of the keys to becoming confident is to dress for success. She recommends to never dress casually and always wear clothes that look good and fit perfectly. This will ensure that first impressions of me are always high. Then it's up to me to be confident in my knowledge and ability to deliver that knowledge.

My question for you is how to find a wardrobe that is powerful yet affordable. My mentor is not on the same budget as am I, and I can't shop where she does. Are there alternatives for me? — Stylish on a Budget

Dear Stylish: Your mentor sounds like she has a lot good advice to offer. It is important to be dressed appropriately in a professional environment, and you can never go wrong by being overdressed. Thrift stores could be a great option.

And going high-tech is an option, too. Technological disruption continues to change our lives, and within fashion that is also true. Several online companies, such as Sumissura, use technology to tailor clothing for your shape.

You may choose your fabric, which allows you to work within your budget. If you prefer to be fit in person, there are several reputable tailors from Hong Kong, such as Raja Fashions, that travel to various U.S. cities and fit people in hotel rooms. They will build the suit for you in Hong Kong and send to your home. You may select fabric that works for your budget. Custom-made clothes can make you look good and feel confident while sticking to your budget.

Dear Annie: I travel frequently and am becoming increasingly annoyed by pets in the airport and on planes. I appreciate true service animals for people with disabilities and understand that is necessary. However, I'm talking about the entitled people who decide they need (really, want) their pets to travel with them. On one of my most recent travels, a fully capable lady let her dog poop in the middle of the terminal.

She proceeded to say "oh, no!" and then moved on without cleaning up after her animal. Then, on my flight, a passenger had his dog sleeping on his chest.

When he was standing to use the restroom, he placed his dog in the aisle, where she promptly peed. He tried not to do anything, except the lady next to him alerted the flight attendants.

I ask you to publish my plea so that others can read this: If you travel with you pet, please have the decency to respect your fellow passengers and at least clean up after them. — Seeking Decorum

Dear Decorum: The skies have gone to the dogs. People who are not in significant need are taking advantage of the service dog loophole to travel with their four-legged friends. I appreciate your concerns about some of these animals misbehaving and the owners lack of sensitivity in managing these issues. Regardless of on the ground or in the skies, we should all respect our neighbors and clean up after our pets. I hope the abuse of privilege doesn't lead to truly disabled people having a more difficult time traveling with their service animals.
